Company profile 2026

Commerce, held true.

True to every term.

VERITY INTERNATIONAL is an international company working across trade, supply, representation and new ventures, with one standard for every agreement.

The company

We bring buyers, manufacturers and partners together across sectors and borders. What we write in an agreement is what we deliver: the specification, the price, the timing and the terms.

Structure
Divisions that grow with the business

An international company built on exact terms.

In international business, much of the cost and risk sits not in the goods or the deal itself but in uncertainty about it. Will the specification match? Is the timeline real? Who carries the freight, the inspection and the certificate?

Our work is to remove that uncertainty. We understand a requirement properly, work with manufacturers and partners we qualify before any order, and put every term in writing before anyone commits. Then we manage the work until goods, documents and invoices match what was agreed.

We are not tied to one industry or one region. The company is organised in divisions, so new sectors, product lines and partnerships can be added without changing how we work.

What we do

Five practices, one standard. Each covers everything between a requirement and a delivered, documented and invoiced result.

Transaction facilitation	Buyers and sellers appoint us to represent them, negotiate, coordinate and close international transactions, including goods shipped directly between two other countries.
Trade and supply	We source goods, equipment and materials from manufacturers and authorised distributors that we qualify before ordering, and deliver them under any Incoterm with the documents your bank, port and customs require.
Representation	We represent manufacturers and brands entering new markets: enquiries, tenders, pricing, contracts and the customer relationship, under a written agreement that protects your channel.
Projects	We consolidate supply from many vendors into one contract and one schedule, submit technical data for approval and align deliveries with the programme on site.
Ventures	We develop new business lines with partners who share our standard, from first assessment to a working commercial operation.

Behind every practice

Strategic sourcing

Identifying and qualifying manufacturers and authorised distributors, and comparing technical compliance, cost and lead time across sources.

Technical compliance

Checking datasheets, certifications and standards against your specification before order, and arranging pre-shipment inspection.

Trade documentation

Commercial invoices, packing lists, certificates of origin, legalisation and documents for letters of credit.

Procurement and expediting

Placing purchase orders, negotiating terms, tracking production and holding suppliers to their commitments.

Logistics coordination

Freight by sea, air and road, cargo insurance, consolidation and delivery to your named place.

After-sales coordination

Warranty claims, spare parts, replacement supply and manufacturer support after delivery.

International transaction facilitation

Your transaction, represented and executed.

Bring a deal you have, a deal you need, or a market you want to sell into. Appoint VERITY INTERNATIONAL for one stage or the whole transaction, decide exactly what we may do for you, and follow every step in your own transaction workspace.

Six ways to engage us

Buyer representation	We source, negotiate and conduct the purchase for you, within the authority you give.
Seller representation	We present your products, find and qualify buyers, negotiate and conduct the sale.
Joint appointment	Buyer and seller appoint us together, each fully informed, to bring the transaction to a fair and timely close.
Transaction management	An agreed deal taken through documents, inspection, shipment and payment milestones to completion.
One transaction, or a continuing mandate	A single deal, or an ongoing appointment for a market, a product range or a programme of purchases.
Purchase and resale	Where it suits the transaction, we buy and resell in our own name, with the obligations of a seller.

Start from where you are

Buyers with a supplier

Negotiation and closing within the limits you set.

Sellers with a customer

The order coordinated to completion, your customer simply notified.

Delegate the whole process

Finding the counterparty, negotiating, contracting and delivery.

Manufacturers seeking representation

A continuing mandate for a market or product range.

Sectors

The company is organised in divisions. Each covers a range of goods we source and supply, and all of them work to the same commercial standard. They describe where we work today, not a limit: new divisions are added as the business grows.

Technology and IT infrastructure	Enterprise servers, GPU and AI computing systems, storage, networking and IT equipment, sourced to your bill of materials and quoted line by line.
Vehicles and mobility	Pickups, commercial and utility vehicles, special-purpose vehicles and parts, specified for the destination market and supplied for export with complete documentation.
Industrial equipment and machinery	Compressors, pumps, motors, machine tools, handling equipment and spare parts for plants, workshops and contractors.
Energy and electrical	Cables, switchgear, transformers, solar and storage components, instrumentation and electrical consumables, with the test reports and approvals your project requires.
Construction and building supply	Façade and architectural systems, finishing materials, MEP equipment and site supply for contractors and developers, in one scheduled contract.

Where we deliver

Our base in the United Arab Emirates connects us to markets in every direction through some of the world's busiest ports and airports. We quote delivery to your named place under any Incoterm, and we tell you in advance about destination-specific documentation, duties or restrictions.

The measure of true.

Verity means truth. A builder calls a wall true when the plumb line proves it. Our mark is a V hung on that line: the standard every agreement is held to.

What you can hold us to.

Exact

Quantities, specifications and terms stated precisely, and checked twice.

Accountable

One company, one contract and one named contact for the outcome.

Open

Prices, extras, lead times and risks disclosed before you commit.

Compliant

Counterparties and destinations screened against sanctions and export rules.

Durable

A long relationship at a fair margin, over a single transaction at any cost.

Working with us.

The same five stages for a single part or a multi-container project. Each one ends with something in writing.

01

Enquiry

You share the requirement. We confirm it and ask the questions that matter.

02

Proposal

A written quotation with full terms and a clear validity date.

03

Agreement

An order confirmation and, where required, a proforma invoice.

04

Execution

Purchase, inspection, freight and documents, reported at agreed milestones.

05

Handover

Goods, documents and invoices that match what was agreed.

Why Verity

Verity means truth. In engineering and construction, a surface or an alignment is called true when it is exact, and the plumb line is the oldest instrument for proving it. Our symbol is a V hung on that line.

It is a reminder of the standard we hold ourselves to: what we write in an agreement is what we deliver.

Governance and compliance

We operate under the commercial laws of the United Arab Emirates. Our trade licence details are printed on our formal commercial documents, with our tax registration where it applies.

We maintain written policies on anti-bribery, sanctions and export controls, data protection and complaint handling. Customers and partners can request our compliance documentation for supplier onboarding at business@verityinternational.net.

Write to us. We reply in writing.
